

Photo credit: Kate Milford

LAKSHMAN ACHUTHAN

Lakshman Achuthan is co-founder and managing director of the Economic Cycle Research Institute (ECRI), an independent organization focused on business cycle analysis and forecasting in the tradition established by ECRI's co-founder, Geoffrey H. Moore. ECRI maintains business cycle chronologies for 20 countries around the world other than the U.S.

Lakshman is the managing editor of ECRI's forecasting publications and regularly participates in a wide range of public economic discussions. ECRI's widely followed U.S. Weekly Leading Index is publicly released at www.businesscycle.com.

He is a member of Time magazine's board of economists, the New York City Economic Advisory Panel and serves as trustee on a number of non-profit boards.

Lakshman is the co-author of Beating the Business Cycle: How to Predict and Profit from Turning Points in the Economy published by Doubleday.